Young Puck Stars On Parade

Minor Hockey Night Monday

Parents sometimes wonder why their boy bothers to get up at 6 a.m. just to play hockey. Monday night at Memorial Arena, 376 Greater Victoria youngsters will show them why.

At that time the Greater Victoria Minor Hockey Association stages its third annual "Minor Hockey Night," to raise funds for a youth movement that grows more popular with each season.

Lack of ice time has cut to the bone the time any member of the association spends actually playing hockey. In most cases a boy goes to the arena before or after school twice a week or oftener for the privilege of playing about five minutes of hockey. But the enthusiasm is still there.

"It's going to depend on the support we get Monday how well the association is going to be able to continue," president Doug Fletcher said yesterday.

"This is our one fund-raising effort of the year, and we need all the support we can get. We think we have a good, entertaining evening lined up, and want to see all the parents and their friends out to watch the kids."

Six games are scheduled, taking in every division from the flyweight (9-10 years) to the junior (under 18). There will also be visiting dignitaries, door prizes and the HMCS Naden band.

The flyweights start things off at 6.45, followed by a bantam (under 14) game at 7.20. The midgets (under 16) play at 7.50, the pee wees (under 12) at 8.45. Another bantam game is set for 9.30, and the night ends with a game between the midget and juvenile all-stars.

Official opening ceremonies will be at 8.30.

Tickets are on sale at Victoria Sporting Goods and Victoria Cougar ticket office, or may be purchased from any member of the association.

"Minor Hockey Night" is the last phase of a nation-wide "Young Canada Week" which started Saturday.

Fuller Rink Wins Bonspiel

NANAIMO—A Nanaimo rink skipped by Mrs. Marg Fuller, former Western Canada champion, won top honors in the seventh annual mixed bonspiel at the Nanaimo Curling Club but Port Alberni rinks took home the first prizes in the other three events.

In an all-Nanaimo final against Mrs. Sylvia Koster, who curled second rocks for her when she won the Western Canada women's title in 1957, Mrs. Fuller squeezed out an 8-6 vistory. Three in the third end and four more in the fifth was the difference as Mrs. Fuller won her fifth game to take the Alexander Motors Trophy.

Doug Neff curler third rocks for Mrs. Fuller, her husband, Bob, was at second and Pearl Hungle led off. Bill Karjala, Gene Koster and Betty Shinnan supported Mrs. Koster.

In the second event, for the Giovando Trophy, Miss Paulie Dorofay of Port Alberni almost dissipated a 7-0 lead before edging past Nancy Duncan of Vancouver, 9-8. The Port Alberni rink had a seven-rock lead after four ends, but it was 7-7 after eight ends. Two on the ninth proved to be the margin for Miss Dorofay's quartet, which also included Cec Hooper, Hank Hoffman and Kay Morissette.

Archie and Ann McMillan and Ken Medland were the other members of the Vancouver rink.

"C" WINNERS

Elsie Paul, supported by Warren Paul, Agnar Bergman and Helen Edwards, won the Malaspina Florist Trophy, outscoring Agnes Thien of Wellington, 10-6, in the "C" final. Ron Green, Bev Smiley and Jackie Schulter were the other members of the Wellington rink.

Edna Souther made it three wins for Port Alberni in the Fawdry Trophy event with an 8-5 victory over Edna Quinney of Nanaimo. Bob Cummings, Bryce Blake and Madge Blake were other members of Mrs. Souther's rink, while Lloyd Brown, Art Quinney and Betty Brown curled for Mrs. Quinney.

Rain Halts Play In MCC Match

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) — Marylebone Cricket Club's match against New South Wales was abandoned Monday as a draw. Rain, which fell continuously from Monday's close, prevented any play on the final day of the four-day match.

Final scores were: New South Wales 215 and 44 for no wickets; MCC 303.

The tailend of England's batting order collapsed against the spin bowling of Richie Benaud Monday and the touring English cricket team had to settle for an 88-run first-innings lead.

New South Wales had scored 44 runs without loss in its second innings and trailed England by 44 runs when bad light and rain forced the suspension of play 50 minutes early.

England was in a good position to grab a big first-innings lead but the last six wickets crumbled for only 71 runs. Benaud took five wickets for 11 runs in one devastating spell.

Peter May, 99 not out at the close of play Saturday, carried on to 136—his fifth century of the tour—before being bowled by Gordon Rorke. Trevor Bailey scored 54 before stumped.

Jim Clarke sparked the winners with three goals. Ken Piercy, John Roston and Jim Place scored one each, while Warren Boen and Ken Pringle tallied for Colwood.

All other scheduled games were cancelled.
